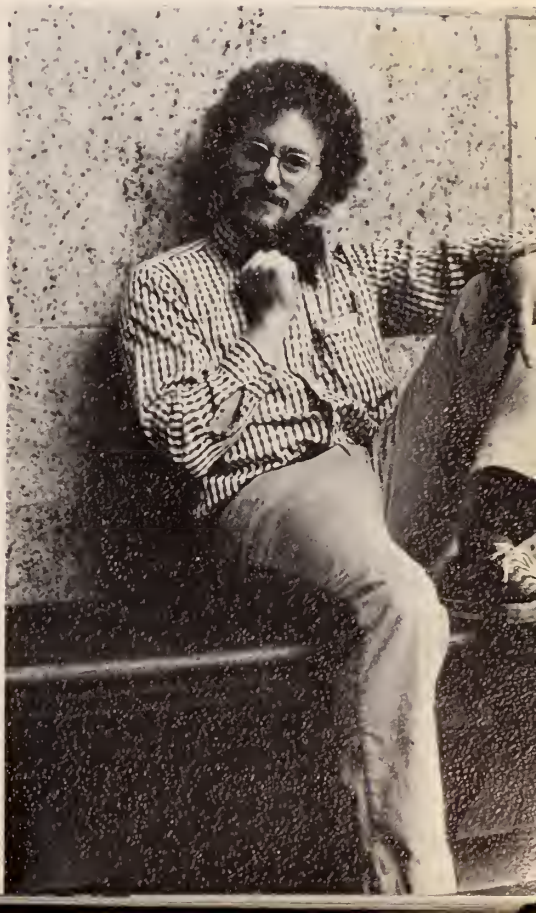
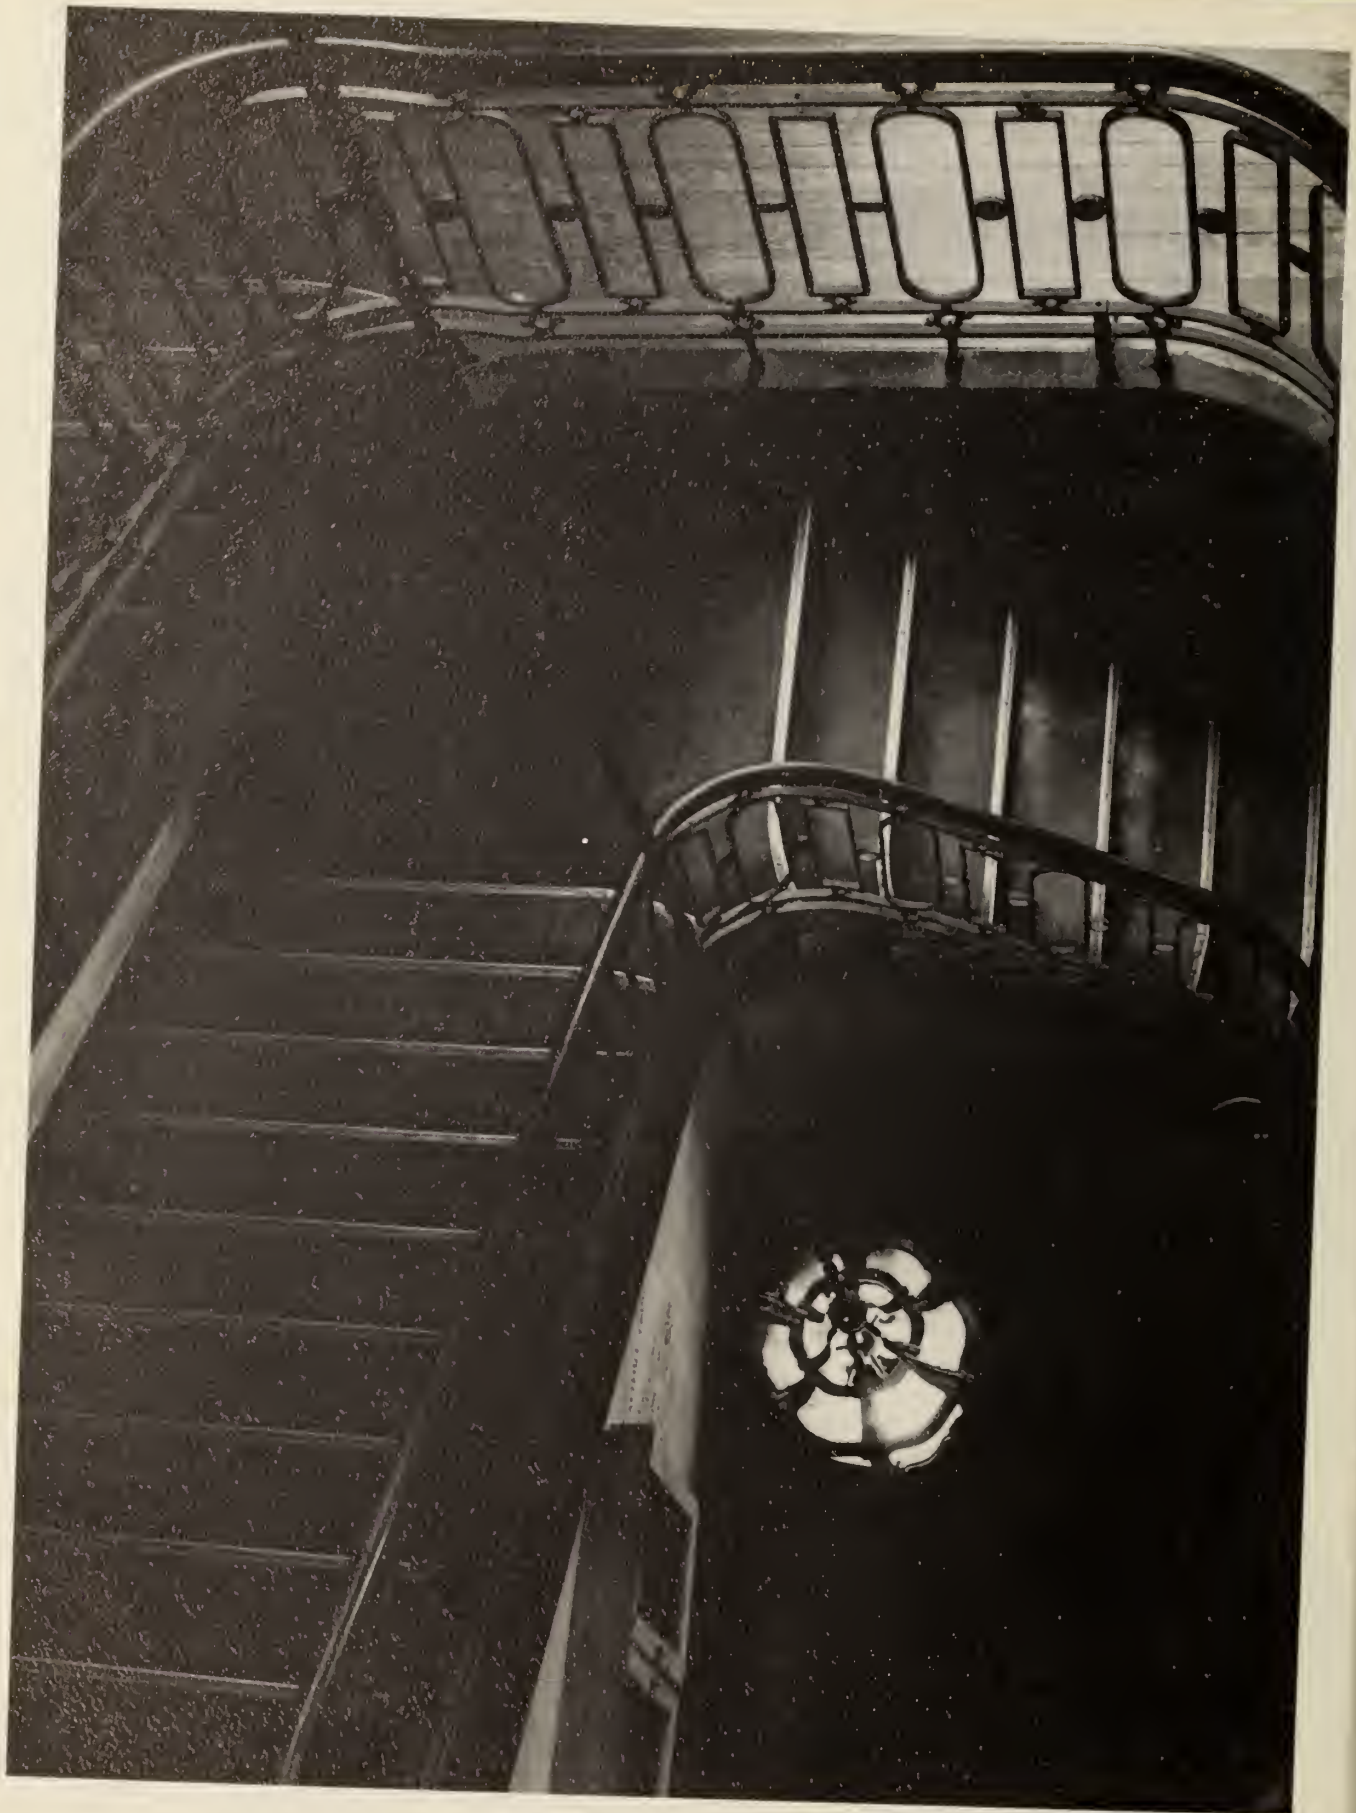
The 1973 MANOR

LIBRARY
OCT 12 1973
FAIRFIELD U.





The 1972-73 year at Fairfield was a year of change. Some traditions ceased while others began. A controversial president left; a new president took office. A class of once all men graduated among handfuls of women, and a once enraged student body quieted in a passive, accepting atmosphere. A new dorm was christened, and a new price tag was placed upon education. The migrating stag settled down. No more journeys to Marymount of Manhattanville. When it was evident that the stag was finally exhausted, he bounded to Madison Square Garden in an overwhelming spirit of enthusiasm—a sudden, but welcome change.

Strangely enough, the changes in our limited university world were merely a reflection of the changes in our country. The marathon war in Viet Nam ended, while 18 year olds were dubbed adults. A water gate burst which made Americans realize that further change must occur.

It is in this context that we dedicate this 1973 Manor to change, for the only true constant is change.

Dear Friends,

Thank you for experiencing the 1973 Manor. I certainly hope that you have enjoyed this rememberance of 1972-73. It was my intent to portray the year in the light of the many transitions which have occurred at Fairfield.

I apologize if any group or faction of the university feels slighted in any way by this publication. Not every student nor administrator nor faculty member is pictured in the book, but they are represented.

Thank you so much to my willing staff, and to James Findley who gave of his time so generously. Also, to James FitzPatrick, thank you for much cooperative assistance.

The photograph on page six is the winning photo in a contest sponsored by the Campus Center. Tim Murphy submitted this picture. Other participating photos can be seen throughout the book.

In closing, I would like to thank my family for not only putting a sincere effort into helping me with the final stages of preparation of the book, but for being the constants who made me recognize change.

Sincerely,

Susan Coon, Editor-in-Chief

Like as the waves make toward the pebbled shore,
So do our minutes hasten to their end,
Each changing place with that which goes before,
In sequent toil all forward do contend.
Naivity, once in the main of light,
Crawls to maturity, wherewith being crowned,
Crooked eclipses 'gainst his glory fight,
And time that gave doth now his gift confound.
Time doth transfix the flourish set on youth
And delves the parallels in beauty's brow,
Feeds on the rarities of nature's truth,
And nothing stands but for his scythe to mow.
And yet to times in hope my verse shall stand.
Praising thy worth, despite his cruel hand.

William Shakespeare
